

Christel House helps children around the world break the cycle of poverty and become self-sufficient, contributing members of their societies.

“To Care, to Share, to Make a Difference”...this is the passion that fuels our pursuit of the Christel House mission. Such a complex undertaking is not easily achieved. It requires a comprehensive and holistic approach to child development. Christel House operates non-residential learning centers in impoverished neighborhoods, where children receive:

- Primary and secondary education
- Nutritious meals
- Regular health care
- Life-skills training
- Character Development

Christel House is currently serving nearly 2,500 children in five learning centers in India, Mexico, South Africa, Venezuela, and the U.S.

Indianapolis businesswoman and philanthropist Christel DeHaan founded the charity in 1998 and provides funding for all general and administrative expenses. Consequently, 100% of all donations fund programs directly benefiting the children.
